Your Beautiful celebrations of your love story that marks the beginning of a new era. Even though the image trends have been progressing through the years, as an experienced Bora Bora photographer I have found one thing that has maintained a strong imprint on couples – the timeless feel of photography.

When it comes to capturing Bora Bora moments, my photography style is light and airy, as an ode to that timelessness. This wonderful island offers awe-inspiring backdrops that are very vivid and rich in color, making this soft style ideal. It enables me to keep the tones true to life and more importantly, natural.

I'm a lifestyle & underwater photographer. I like to shoot in a relaxed atmosphere to make you feel comfortable and have the best time in front of the camera.

My style is colorful and I keep things mostly natural in order to showcase yourself in a naturally splendid setting: Bora Bora.

Under or above the water I like to capture candid and posed shots to capture true emotions.

Mount Ohue

Starting from the village of Vaitape, this five-kilometer round trip hike is quite physical. Some passages are technical and even difficult. However, experienced hikers will find it an exciting challenge. The strong difference in level invites to a concentration of all the moments and the adrenalin is well with the appointment. At a cautious pace, the fairly well-marked path crosses a green forest with its lush vegetation. On the heights, the viewpoints reward the effort and allow to take exceptional pictures.

Duration: 8 Hours

The Anau Cave

Mount Otemanu is the highest point of Bora Bora. As much as the lagoon, this mysterious mountain belongs to the natural heritage of the island. The last section of the hike is more technical and is more a matter of climbing than hiking. The Anau cave setting is monumental, the walls of volcanic rock rise to the heights at nearly 20 m. The sight is also impressive, it is an absolutely sublime view of the lagoon
